

Homework #7 rubric

Flask is up and running on the URL you sent me and shows something that wasn't there for your homework #6.	10
There are two new places on the landing page (or on some page reachable from the landing page) that shows information that comes from Redis.	10
At least one of these places of information allows the user to modify it in some way (adding new data and/or changing existing data).	10
When I inspect your Redis database, I can confirm that these two new sets of data are backed by two different Redis data structures.	10
